From Chief Functionary's desk....

It is with great pleasure and gratitude that I present to you the annual report of the PARAS Foundation for the year 2022-23. I am humbled by the efforts and achievements of our organization and the positive impact we have made on the lives of farmers, rural women, children, and youth in our society.

The PARAS Foundation has been instrumental in bringing together various stakeholders, including government bodies, NGOs, political and social personnel, and others, to work towards the welfare and sustainable development of our people. We firmly believe that integrated development can only be achieved when we all unite with a common purpose and selfless service.

One of the pressing concerns that we face today is the rapidly changing climate. We are all aware of the factors responsible for this change, and now is not the time for blame games or idle contemplation. It is crucial that we take immediate action as this will impact everyone, irrespective of their socio-economic status or age. Our responsibility extends not only to the present generation but also to future generations who will bear the consequences of our actions.

Another significant challenge we face is the increase in cases of violence against women, discrimination of constitution values and child abuse, and the declining standard of education. These issues act as major barriers to the development of our country. It is our duty to address these concerns and work towards creating a society where women and children are safe, and education is accessible to all.

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to every member and volunteer of the PARAS Foundation for their tireless work, unwavering dedication, and supportive nature towards the vision of our organization. It is because of your efforts that we have achieved remarkable milestones in the past few years. I am filled with pride for what we have accomplished, and I am excited about the opportunities that lie ahead in the future.

As we move forward, I hope to receive the same support, enthusiasm, and collaboration from all of you. Together, let us continue to strive for the betterment of our society and the empowerment of those in need.

Thank you once again for your invaluable contributions.

Warm regards,

Akata Singh
Chief Functionary
PARAS Foundation

Climate informed agriculture, entrepreneurship and Promotion of agro based livelihood through women famers.

Climate-informed agriculture and entrepreneurship have made a significant impact on promoting agro-based livelihoods, particularly among women farmers. As a result, 97 families have successfully adopted multi-layer vegetable production, leading to improved agricultural output. Additionally, 1031 families have experienced a substantial increase in their average income by Rs. 2619 through altered cropping seasons. The implementation of rice intensification techniques has resulted in 103.5 acres of land being efficiently utilized. Furthermore, 418 farmer families are now utilizing compost, while 230 have adopted green manuring, enhancing soil fertility and sustainability. The benefits of agricultural schemes have reached 119 farmer families, and an additional 186 families have started intercropping systems to generate extra income. Moreover, 144 flood-affected farmer families have received paddy for the third time, aiding their recovery efforts. A significant achievement has been made in reducing crop burning, with 1308 farmers eliminating this practice across their 795 -acre farmland by adopting sugarcane mulching techniques using leaves. Finally, these efforts have collectively conserved a remarkable 2.53 million cubic meters of water in agriculture through various water-saving techniques.

Women socio economic right & Empowerment

PARAS Foundation has made significant progress in its ERW project, benefitting 2473 women across 10 Gram Panchayats in Rudauli Block, Ayodhya district. The project aimed to enhance the functioning of local governance (PRI) to reduce domestic violence, increase women's participation in open Gram Sabha meetings, ensure the regular operation of PDS shops, facilitate entitlement realization for welfare schemes, improve healthcare services, and promote the MNREGA scheme in villages. Key achievements include the issuance of 49 women job cards in MNREGA, the successful resolution of 6 domestic violence cases, the active involvement of 11 Nari Sangh leaders in monitoring MDM and PDS schemes, a 20% increase in women's participation in open Gram Sabha meetings, the regular participation of 41 Nari Sangh leaders in VHND for quality assurance, 756 women submitting written demand letters to Pradhan's for work in MNREGA, the participation of an MLA in Nari Sangh's events and meetings, and the consistent organization of Nari Sangh meetings. These accomplishments demonstrate PARAS Foundation's commitment to empowering women and promoting effective local governance.

Facilitation to women child health.

Our organization has been actively involved in facilitating women and child health, with a particular focus on maternal health for women aged 15 to 49. Our efforts have been directed towards several key areas, including early registration of pregnancies, ensuring three complete Antenatal Care (ANC) visits, identifying and referring high-risk pregnancies, promoting birth preparedness and spacing, facilitating safe deliveries, providing Postnatal Care (PNC), and tracking maternal deaths. Additionally, we have worked towards increasing access to the Janani Suraksha Yojana (JSY) scheme benefits. The results of our endeavors have been highly encouraging, as we have achieved 100% registration of pregnancies in Anganwadi Centers (AWCs), with 99% of pregnant women participating in complete ANC visits. Furthermore, we have successfully identified and referred six high-risk cases, leading to appropriate care. A remarkable 97% of deliveries have taken place in hospitals, ensuring safer birthing conditions. Finally, 213 women have received the JSY scheme benefits, further enhancing maternal and child health outcomes in our target communities.

Maternal, Neonatal, Child Health

In the domain of Maternal, Neonatal, and Child Health, our organization has been actively engaged in providing comprehensive support to the community. For children aged 0 to 6 years, our efforts have focused on ensuring complete immunization, monitoring growth, de-worming, and referring severely underweight children for appropriate care. We have also promoted immediate and exclusive breastfeeding, as well as supplementary nutrition, while effectively managing diarrhea and pneumonia cases. Moreover, we have prioritized the management of low birth weight (LBW) babies and implemented a robust system for tracking under-5 deaths. As a result, we have achieved a commendable 90% completion rate for immunization within the designated time schedule. Additionally, 228 kits have been distributed by our health workers for de-worming, and nine children have been referred for underweight conditions. Furthermore, our health workers have identified and referred 24 cases of diarrhea to hospitals, ensuring timely treatment.

In the realm of Adolescent Health, specifically targeting individuals aged 15 to 19 years, we have implemented various initiatives. These include tracking and addressing cases of anaemia, providing iron and folic acid (IFA) supplements and de-worming treatments, promoting menstrual hygiene practices, and advocating for delayed age of marriage. Notably, our health workers have identified and provided iron tablets to 94 adolescents suffering from anaemia. Additionally, 630 kits have been distributed for de-worming purposes, benefiting a significant number of adolescents. Moreover, 328 adolescents actively participated in hygiene meetings, enhancing their knowledge and practices in this area. Importantly, no cases of underage marriage have been identified within our target population. These accomplishments underscore our commitment to promoting the health and well-being of mothers, neonates, children, and adolescents in the communities we serve.

Realization of entitlements services

Our organization has successfully collaborated with various government schemes to promote sustainable agriculture and enhance farming practices. As part of this collaboration, we have conducted soil testing for 630 samples, enabling farmers to make informed decisions regarding soil nutrient management. Additionally, we have mobilized subsidized hybrid paddy seeds weighing 61 kg and subsidized wheat seeds weighing 1480 kg, provided by the agriculture department, to support farmers in adopting improved seed varieties. In association with the horticulture department, we have established two permanent pit vermi composting units, facilitating organic waste management and enhancing soil fertility. Furthermore, we have distributed seeds of bottle gourd (1.5 kg), bitter melon (1.75 kg), and garlic (180 kg) from the horticulture department, promoting diversification and increasing income opportunities for farmers. The agriculture department has also supported our efforts by providing five solar pumps, enhancing access to irrigation for farmers, and installing four drip systems and one sprinkler system from the horticulture department, ensuring efficient water management. We have also received 44 vegetable carry trays from the horticulture department, facilitating the safe transportation of produce. Additionally, we have been entrusted with 480 decomposer kits by the agriculture department, enabling farmers to adopt sustainable waste management practices. Lastly, we have conducted five batches of agriculture training sessions for farmers, introducing them to innovative agricultural techniques and empowering them with valuable knowledge. These collaborations with government schemes have significantly contributed to the advancement of agriculture and the well-being of farmers in our target areas.

Environmental health:

Our organization has been actively promoting environmental health through various initiatives. To promote self-sufficiency and nutrition, we have successfully established kitchen gardens for 730 families, enabling them to grow fresh vegetables and herbs. Ensuring the safety of drinking water sources is another priority, and we have collaborated with the community to clean and maintain 91 water sources, providing access to clean and safe drinking water. Recognizing the importance of preserving our ecosystem, we have conducted extensive tree plantation drives in collaboration with the forest department, resulting in the planting of 14,000 trees. Additionally, we have focused on effective garbage management by encouraging 148 families to prepare shock pits for proper waste disposal and water management. Furthermore, our efforts to reduce farm burning have been successful, as we have prevented 1,830 farmers from engaging in this harmful practice, thereby mitigating air pollution. Lastly, we have emphasized the importance of improving soil health through sustainable agricultural practices, benefiting numerous farmers in our target areas. These results demonstrate our commitment to promoting environmental health and sustainability..

Better education better life!

Under our initiative "Better Education, Better Life!" PARAS Foundation is operating a school catering to children aged 3 to 16 years. Our school offers classes ranging from nursery to 10th class, serving a total of 155 students. This year, we are proud to report that we have admitted 66 new students from nearby villages, expanding our reach and impact.

We are committed to providing education to children from all backgrounds, and as part of this commitment; we offer both free and fee-based education options. Moreover, we understand the challenges faced by children in rural areas when it comes to transportation. To address this, we provide free transportation services to 55 students, ensuring they have convenient access to our school.

Our curriculum encompasses essential subjects such as English, Hindi, Math, and Computer Education. We emphasize delivering quality education to rural areas, and to achieve this, we have recruited well-educated and experienced teachers who are dedicated to the students' holistic development.

We are grateful for the support we have received from partners like the LIC Golden Jubilee Foundation. Their generous contribution has allowed us to acquire a 16-seater Mahindra Bus, which has further enhanced our transportation capabilities, enabling more students to attend school comfortably and safely.

Through our "Better Education, Better Life!" initiative, we remain committed to providing quality education, fostering a love for learning, and empowering children with the knowledge and skills they need for a brighter future.

Capacity building of community

As part of our commitment to community development, PARAS Foundation has been actively engaged in capacity building initiatives. We have organized several training programs aimed at empowering farmers, Nari Sangh leaders, women, and adolescent girls.

For farmers, we conducted 380 training sessions to enhance their capacity and encourage the adoption of improved agricultural techniques. These training sessions focused on water-saving agriculture practices, water resource management, tree plantation, and market assessment. A total of 7,660 farmers participated in these training programs, with 1,019 farmers successfully adopting the techniques taught. It is noteworthy that 5,535 women actively participated in these training sessions, highlighting our efforts to promote gender-inclusive capacity building in the agricultural sector.

To strengthen the leadership and management skills of Nari Sangh leaders, we organized two training sessions, with 120 leaders participating. The training covered topics such as group management, record-keeping, and leadership skill development. As a result, two Nari Sangh groups have successfully initiated their operations and implemented record-keeping practices.

We also conducted five training programs for rural women under the Nari Sangh initiative. These training sessions focused on their rights, leadership development, Nari Sangh management, and various government schemes. A total of 125 Nari Sangh members participated in these training sessions, equipping them with knowledge and skills to advocate for their entitlements, such as the right to work, right to food, and right to health. These empowered women have raised their voices in Gram Sabhas, catalyzing the realization of their entitlements.

Furthermore, we have been dedicated to the development of adolescent girls. We organized regular weekly training sessions for 52 girls, focusing on vocational skill development, safety, and hygiene. All 52 girls successfully learned beautician skills, enhancing their prospects for self-employment and economic independence.

Through these capacity building initiatives, PARAS Foundation remains committed to empowering individuals and communities, enabling them to lead more sustainable, prosperous, and fulfilled lives.

Extension of People's institution

PARAS Foundation firmly believes in the extension of people's institutions as an essential component of our sustainable development efforts. We recognize that true empowerment comes when individuals possess the necessary skills, confidence, and control over resources to manage their own institutions and find innovative ways to progress.

One of the key people's CBOs we have established is Nari Sanghs. These collectives of women operate at the village, and block levels, providing a platform for women to come together, advocate for their rights, and claim their entitlements. Nari Sanghs empower women to voice their concerns, participate in decision-making processes, and work towards achieving gender equality and social justice. These CBOs play a pivotal role in fostering community solidarity and creating an enabling environment for women's empowerment.

In addition, we have established Farmer Resource Centres and Farmers producer organization (FPO), which serve as vital hubs for farmers at the village level. These centres provide farmers with access to appropriate agricultural inputs, technologies, and knowledge for sustainable farming practices. By offering resources such as improved seeds, organic fertilizers, and efficient irrigation techniques, the Farmer Resource Centres enable farmers to enhance their productivity, optimize resource utilization, and adopt environmentally friendly agricultural methods. These centres also serve as platforms for knowledge sharing, capacity building, and fostering collaboration among farmers in the community.

By extending people's CBOs like Nari Sanghs and Farmer Resource Centres, PARAS Foundation aims to create sustainable structures that ensure the long-term success of our development initiatives. We believe that empowering individuals and communities with the skills, resources, and ownership of these COBs will lead to self-empowerment, resilience, and the ability to forge new pathways towards progress and prosperity.

Accountability and Transparency

At PARAS Foundation, we prioritize accountability and transparency in all our financial operations. We believe that maintaining the highest standards of integrity and openness is crucial to building trust with our stakeholders. Here are some key practices we follow to ensure accountability and transparency:

Internal Audit: To uphold financial integrity, we engage an independent, external agency to conduct regular internal audits. These audits assess our compliance with relevant regulations, identify areas for improvement, and provide valuable suggestions to strengthen our financial management processes.

Budgeting and Control: We maintain a rigorous budgeting and control system. Each activity and project has a dedicated budget, which is submitted separately to our donors as per required. Our senior-level management and finance team closely monitor these budgets to ensure effective allocation of resources and compliance to financial plans.

Reporting: We place great emphasis on timely and accurate financial reporting. Each month, we conduct comprehensive reviews of our financial reports to identify any errors or inconsistencies. This regular review process allows us to maintain accuracy in our financial records and make informed decisions based on reliable data.

Donor Compliance: We are committed to meeting the reporting and compliance requirements of our donors. We ensure that all financial transactions and activities align with the specific guidelines and regulations set forth by our funding partners. This commitment fosters transparency and strengthens our partnerships with donors.

Stakeholder Engagement: We actively engage with our stakeholders, including donors, beneficiaries, and the community at large, to foster transparency and accountability. We provide regular updates on our financial performance, impact assessment, and utilization of resources. We encourage feedback and address any concerns regarding our financial operations.

PARAS Foundation remains dedicated to upholding the highest standards of accountability and transparency. We continuously strive to improve our financial management processes, strengthen internal controls, and ensure the responsible and transparent utilization of resources. By doing so, we aim to build trust and maintain the confidence of our stakeholders as we work towards achieving our mission of creating positive social change.

Financial Performance and Status.

Our visitors

Throughout the year, PARAS Foundation has had the privilege of hosting esteemed visitors from various organizations and institutions. These visits have provided valuable opportunities for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and strengthening partnerships. We are grateful for the support and guidance received from these individuals and organizations. Some notable visitors include:

Deputy Director of Agriculture, Ayodhya: The visit of the Deputy Director of Agriculture from Ayodhya provided valuable insights into agricultural practices and policies. This visit helped us align our initiatives with government strategies and enhance our collaboration with the agriculture department.

Scientist from Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Masaudha: The visit of the scientist from Krishi Vigyan Kendra in Masaudha brought expertise in agricultural research and extension services. This interaction allowed us to exchange knowledge on innovative farming techniques and further improve our training programs for farmers.

Representatives from Azim Premji Foundation, Bangalore: The visit by representatives from the Azim Premji Foundation, based in Bangalore, provided an opportunity for collaboration and sharing best practices in the field of rural development & education. This visit strengthened our efforts to provide quality education and rural women development equity in the communities.

Additional Development Officer - Agriculture: The visit of the Additional Development Officer from the Agriculture department showcased the government's recognition of our work. This visit allowed us to discuss future collaborations and explore avenues for further support in promoting sustainable agriculture and rural development.

Program Officer from ChildFund India: The visit by the Program Officer from ChildFund India enabled us to share our experiences and exchange ideas on climate change and strengthening the organization capacity. This visit enhanced our understanding of climate friendly agriculture approaches and reinforced our commitment to empowering women in the communities we work with.

Chief Manager Finance from PANI Sansthan: The visit by the Chief Manager Finance from PANI Sansthan highlighted the importance of finance management and administration. This visit facilitated discussions on finance-related initiatives and strengthened our efforts in promoting sustainable finance management practices.

The visits from these esteemed individuals and organizations have been instrumental in shaping our programs, fostering collaborations, and advancing our mission of empowering communities. We are grateful for their support and look forward to continued engagement in the future.
